

Problem

The purpose of this document is to provide an Open Document template for preparing a poster at FedCSIS conference.

- Use a zero before decimal points: “0.25,” not “.25.”
- Remember to check spelling

Contributions

You may find useful an excellent Advice on designing scientific posters [1]:

- The number one mistake is to make your poster too long
- Avoid titles with colons The width of text boxes should be approximately 40 characters
- Whenever possible, use lists of sentences rather than blocks of text

Method

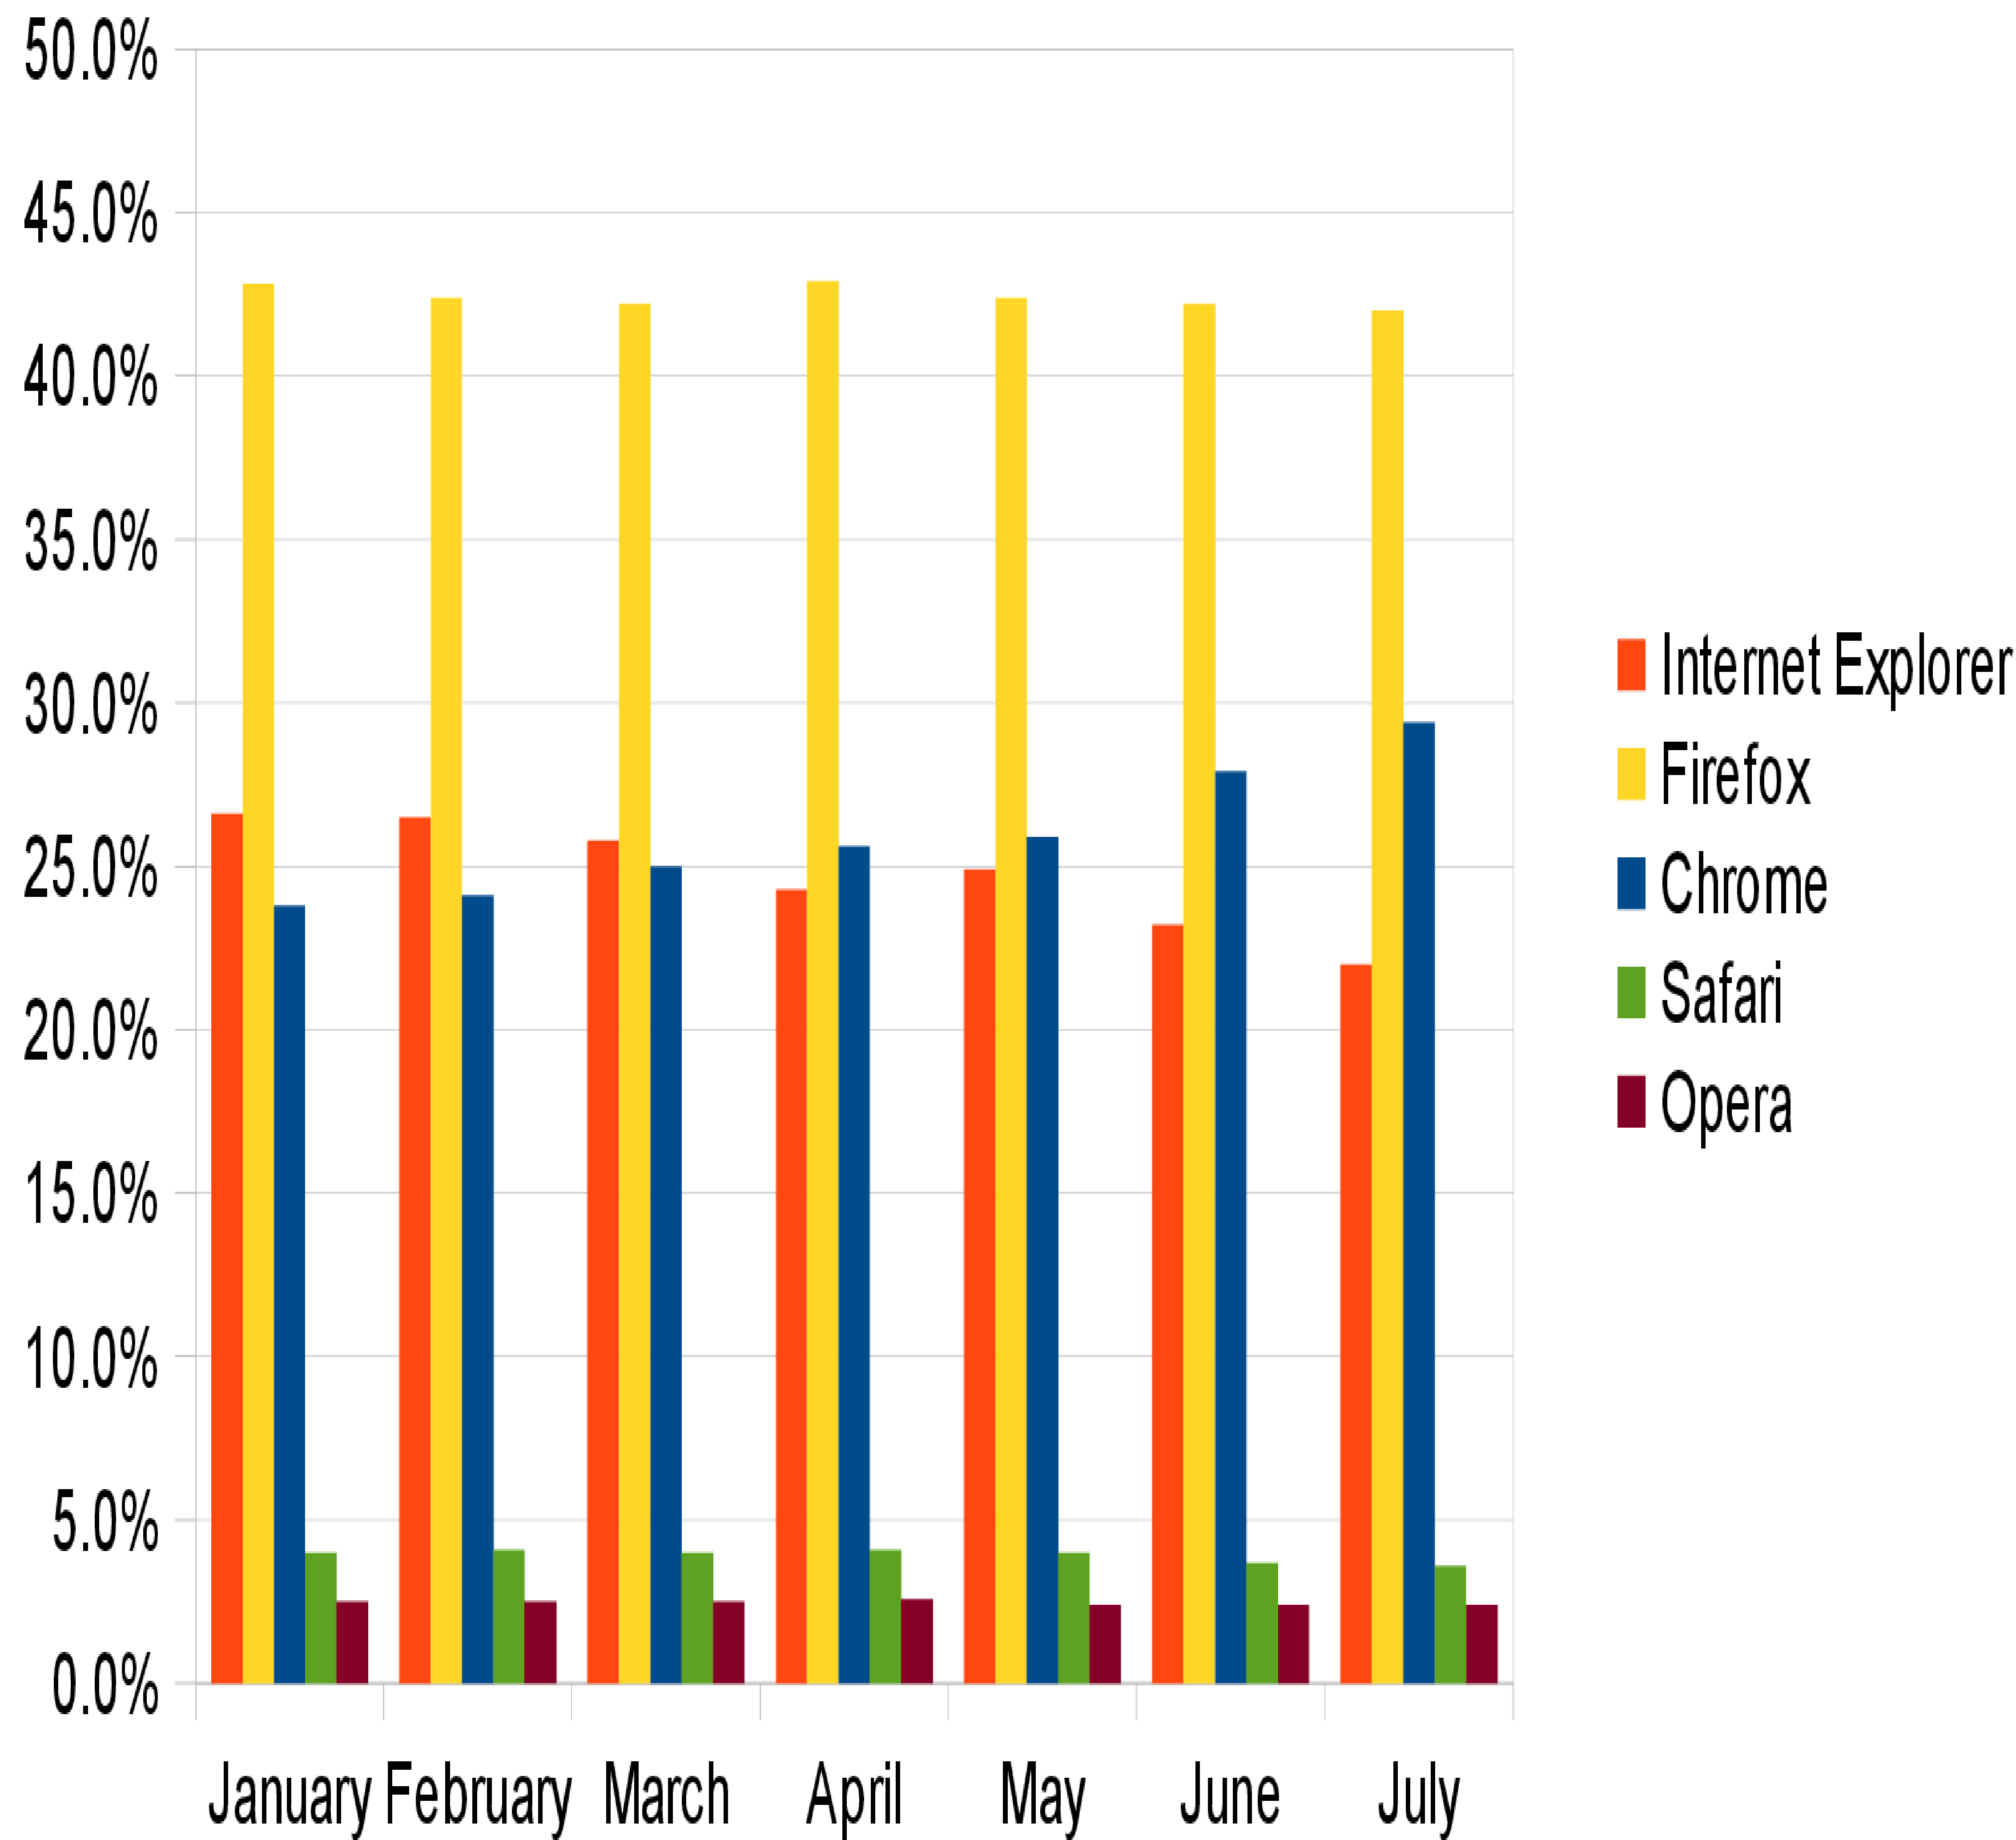

Abstract is placed in the first paragraph. It is formatted with the Abstract style. The length of the abstract should not exceed 150 words.

Do not include abstract in your poster!

Results

Browser statistics
2011	Internet Explorer	Firefox	Chrome	Safari	Opera
January	26.6%	42.8%	23.8%	4.0%	2.5%
February	26.5%	42.4%	24.1%	4.1%	2.5%
March	25.8%	42.2%	25.0%	4.0%	2.5%
April	24.3%	42.9%	25.6%	4.1%	2.6%
May	24.9%	42.4%	25.9%	4.0%	2.4%
June	23.2%	42.2%	27.9%	3.7%	2.4%
July	22.0%	42.0%	29.4%	3.6%	2.4%

The usage share of a web browser is the proportion, often expressed as a percentage, of users of all web browsers who use that particular browser. This figure can only be estimated, typically by determining the proportion of visitors to a group of websites that use a particular web browser. Browser usage share varies from place to place as well as through time

References

[1] Colin Purrington Advice on designing scien-tific posters <http://www.swarthmore.edu/NatSci/cpurri1/posteradvice.htm>

[2] A. Denisiuk. Integral geometry on the family of semi-spheres Fractional Calculus and Applied Analysis, 2:42–59, 1999.

A future direction

Net Applications uses unique visitors to measure web usage.[2] This has the effect that power users visiting a site ten times will only be counted once by NetApp but ten times by other counting sites. Netapps also weighs its data by geographical location based on CIA factbook of internet users.